Suicide Prevention

It's Everybody's Business!

"It's NOT rocket science!"

the price we pay for love

they say

is terrible grief -

and for so many different reasons

life can be such a sudden thief

now I thought that I knew better growing older, closer to the back end of my folder - I could outsmart any Crim then one day it happened the Love of my life, was lost to me I was filled with terrible grieving from outside and within

I have since given this dilemma a considerable amount of thought please find completed below my full, comprehensive report ...

"We are all made for loving sharing and for touch company and companionship we crave and need it so much

There's just no way around it no easy, quick relief by death or separation the price we always pay for love

😊 Sometimes we just have to take good care of ourselves. 😊

While time takes away our pain. It hurts - but we survive.

It's just NOT rocket science!
